Sevendays magazine, Cora Weiss of Friendshipment, the Berrigan Brothers who are former Catholic priests and were involved in draft resistance, Angela Davis of the Communist Party USA, Emile de Antonio the radical film producer who recently produced the film on the Weather Underground, Pete Seeger of the Communist Party, Irwin Silber of the Guardian, Juan Mari Bras of the PSP, Helen Rodriguez Trias of US-Cuba Health Exchange (US-CHE), Julian Bond a black state legislator from Georgia and a member of the Democratic Socialist Organizing Committee, Stokeley Carmichael the former leader of SNCC, Palestinian hanger-on, and marijuana smoker and dealer with Tom Kahn, the homosexual Administrative Assistant to the President of the AFL-CIO, William Kunstler a radical left lawyer and leader of the National Lawyer's Guild, Arthur Kinoy of the Mass Party Organizing Committee, NLG, and Rutgers Law School, and Barbara Dane the left folk singer.

This idea was scrapped in favor of a national conference of representatives of the PSC's to be held in September, 1976 in Columbus, Ohio. This conference which was limited to ten people was held and resulted in no national organization being formed and no joint national projects being adopted primarily because of the political disputes between the old and new leftist ideologies which divided the Palestinian support movement nationally. Thus the individuals listed in the preceding paragraph were never asked to support any pro-Palestinian proposal and no inference about their attitudes on the middle east conflict should necessarily be inferred from their inclusion on this list. That said, however, the list gives a good indication of the scope of people and organizations that the Palestinian support organizations are trying to reach in the United States.

1976 was also a time of development for Palestinian organizations within the Brooklyn Arabic community. [] reported in the middle of the summer of 1976 that the Palestine Red Crescent Society had been in operation on Atlantic Avenue for only five months, the Palestinian Women's Union for only three months, the Yemini Emigre Club for only two months, the Arab Student Club at Columbia University for only a few months. The Arab community raised $12,000 one Sunday evening in midsummer to support Palestinian activities giving these groups a good financial backing. The PFLP has been extremely effective in American fundraising. [] felt that the hijacking at Entebbe was the work of Carlos--the international terrorist whose real name is Illich Ramirez Sanchez--the son of a Venezuelan Communist.

George Cavalletto spoke at an educational meeting of the PSC in late June or early July 1976 about the internal composition of the Palestine Liberation Organization. The so-called "rejection front", named because of their adamant refusal to come to terms with Israel under any circumstances, is made up of Dr George Habash's Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine and two other smaller "commando" groups. These rejection front organizations are a part of the PLO but they do not sit on the executive committee of that organization by their own choice. This is because the executive committee of the PLO is very anxious to come to all of its decisions unanimously and so
